The Economic Impact of Construction in the United States and Florida

Economic Impact of Construction:

- U.S. gross domestic product (GDP)—the value of all goods and services produced in the country—totaled $19.3 trillion in 2017; construction contributed $826 billion (4.3%). In Florida, construction contributed $51.7 billion (5.3%) of the state's GDP of $967 billion, more than the industry's 4.3% share of U.S. GDP.
- Construction wages and salaries in 2017 totaled $427 billion in the United States, including $25.5 billion in Florida.

Nonresidential Construction Spending:

- Nonresidential spending in the U.S. totaled $714 billion in 2017 ($438 billion private, $277 billion public).
- Private nonresidential spending in Florida totaled $16.5 billion in 2017. State and local spending totaled $12.7 billion.
- Nonresidential starts in Florida totaled $29.1 billion in 2017 and $24.9 billion in 2016, according to ConstructConnect.

Construction Employment (Seasonally Adjusted):

- Construction (residential + nonresidential) employed 7.3
 million workers in August 2018, an increase of 315,000 (4.3%) from August 2017, but 5.7% less than in April 2006, when U.S.
 construction employment peaked.
- Construction employment in Florida in August 2018 totaled 548,600, an increase of 7.7% from August 2017, but 21% less than the state's peak in June 2006.
- Construction unemployment is near a series low. In AGC's August 2018 workforce survey, 80% of firms in the U.S. and 79% in Florida reported difficulty filling hourly craft worker positions.

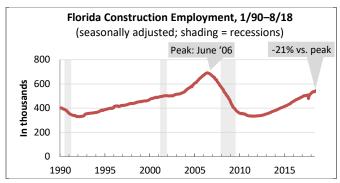

Construction Industry Pay:

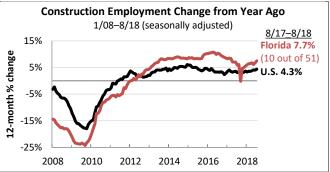

- In 2017, pay for all construction industry employees in the U.S. averaged $60,700, 10% more than the average (mean) for all private-sector employees. Pay for construction industry employees in Florida was $49,200 in 2017, 3% more than the state average for all private-sector employees.
- Four out of the five most numerous construction occupations in Florida had higher median pay than the median for all employees in the state. (Half of workers earn more than the median; half earn less.)

Small Business:

 The United States had 669,000 construction firms in 2015, of which 92% were small (1 to 19 employees). Florida had 48,100 construction firms in 2015, of which 92% were small.
