

Recognition Where It's Due: Georgia State University Awards Our Very Own Phillip Kuck

By April 11, 2017

Late last week, Phillip Kuck was asked to attend a ceremony in which Georgia State University's law school presented him with not just one, but several awards. The first was GSU's award for "Excellence in Professional Responsibility." He then also received recognition for "Excellent Performance in Lawyer in Advocacy" for which he was awarded with best brief. The accolades don't end there, though.

Kuck received two CALI awards last year, which is an award given for the highest grade in the class. One was for Professional Responsibility and the other for Security Interests and Liens. GSU honored him for these awards during the ceremony, proving his hard work had definitely paid off.

As a Lead Articles Editor for this year's Law Review Board, Kuck stays on top of all the latest in the industry. He also made it all the way to the quarterfinals in the Jessup International Law Competition, where he took 6th best brief in the competition regionals. All we can say is congratulations and we're proud to have him on our team.